8. RISK FACTORS

Before subscribing for any Grower's Plot, an investor should pay particular attention to the fact that the Scheme, and to a large extent the Scheme's activities, are subject to legal, regulatory and business environment in Malaysia. The Scheme's plantation business is subject to a number of factors, many of which are outside the Management Company's control. Prior to making the decision to subscribe for any Grower's Plot, an investor should carefully consider along with the other matters in this Prospectus, the risk considerations set out below. The risks set out below are not an exhaustive list of the challenges that the Management Company currently face or that may develop in the future. Additional risks, whether known or unknown, may in the future have a material adverse effect on the Management Company or the Scheme.

8.1 Risk inherent in the plantation industry

As the Plantation's principal activity is the cultivation of oil palm and marketing of oil palm fresh fruit bunches, the Scheme is susceptible to certain business risks inherent in the oil palm industry as well as general business risks. These include but are not limited to:-

- (a) constraints and rising costs of labour supply and raw materials for the Plantation operations;
- (b) changes in world demand for edible oils and fats;
- (c) effects of poor weather;
- (d) commodity price fluctuations;
- (e) threat of substitute products; and
- (f) change in the regulatory, economy and business conditions.

The Management Company seeks to limit these risks through effective risk management practices. However, there is no assurance that adverse changes in the business environment will not have an impact on the Scheme.

8.2 Life cycle of the industry

Oil palm trees produce fruits crops throughout the year but there are seasonal variations. Production also varies with the age condition of the palms, soil and weather. Annual fresh fruit bunch yields typically experience a cyclical pattern with higher yields at intervals of five (5) years. An exceptionally high yielding year will be followed by gradually low yielding years when the trees produce lower output as a result of biological reaction after a period of production stress.

8.3 Plantation yield an important factor in profitability

The yield for oil palm plantations is generally dependent on the terrain, weather and soil as well as the overall management of the plantation. However, consistent production of high yields in relation to the industry average cannot be guaranteed.

8.4 Fluctuations in the demand and prices of edible oils and fats outside control of Management Company

Oil palm growers face competition from other edible oils namely, soya bean and rapeseed. Hence, the price of fresh fruit bunches and crude palm oil fluctuates in accordance to the supply of world edible oils and consumer's demand. The Management Company cannot guarantee that adverse movement in the demand and supply and prices of crude palm oil and palm kernels will not have an adverse effect in the performance of the Plantation.

8.5 Competition from substitute products and other competitors

As previously mentioned, other edible oil namely soya bean, rapeseed and sunflower oil are direct substitutes of palm oil. Nevertheless, palm oil had experienced almost four (4) times growth over the last twenty two (22) years from 1983 to 2004, which was twice the growth rate of other seed oil due to its low production cost and high yield per hectare. Malaysia, being the largest palm oil producer, faces increasing competition from other palm oil producing countries, namely Indonesia, which has a lower industry cost structure in terms of labour and raw materials.

With the continued support from the Malaysian government including extensive research, development, marketing and promotion undertaken by government bodies as well as other incentives given to the industry, Malaysian palm oil producers had in the past, expanded their market share in the world vegetable oil market. There is however, no guarantee that this trend will continue in the future.

8.6 Labour force

The plantation industry is labour intensive. Oil palm plantations require extensive manpower in the nurturing of seedlings, tree planting, manuring, harvesting as well as other routine maintenance work to ensure optimal yield. Oil palm industry has been facing difficulty in recruiting local labour force and therefore has resorted to the employment of foreign plantation workers.

In order to attract and retain our worker and employees, the Management Company will look into providing attractive incentive, benefits, welfare schemes and facilities for staff members and their families. The Management Company's management team and staff are regularly sent for seminars and training to upgrade their knowledge and skills.

In order to improve production efficiency and reduce over-dependence on foreign workers, our Group is constantly studying moves towards mechanisation in many of our plantation practices such as the application of fertilizer and evacuation of fresh fruit bunches. It is envisaged that with mechanisation, the Management Company will be able to optimize the labour force. Nevertheless, no guarantee can be given that any changes in immigration and labour policies by the Government in respect of foreign workers will not affect the operations of the Plantation.

8.7 Pests and diseases

The oil palm industry is not free from pests and diseases as occasional outbreaks of leaf eating insects such as bagworms and nettle caterpillars are common. During the younger stages of its life, oil palms are susceptible to attacks by pests such as rats, porcupines, wild boar and monkeys as well as rhinoceros beetles.

The Management Company intends to take adequate measures to control the population of pest in the plantation, by adopting good agricultural practices and practicing integrated pest management wherever possible. Planting of beneficial plants like Cassia Cobanensis, Turnera Subalata species and Antigonon in the open areas to act as host for predators will enhance and sustain the parasitoid population for natural control of leaf eating pests. The use of pathogenic microbial agent, Metarhizium anisopliae for the control of Oryctes rhinoceros shall be advocated.

Early detection of any pest and disease outbreak will be the key factor in timely and systematic approach in controlling the outbreak. The Management Company shall form a dedicated pest and disease census team for this purpose. The Management Company shall also take all necessary steps to keep abreast with the latest development in natural and biological control of pest and disease and shall adopt these methods in the plantation

Despite these measures, no guarantee can be given that large-scale attacks by pest and/or diseases will not occur in the future and thus adversely affecting the performance of the Plantation.

8.8 Weather condition

Weather has strong effects on fresh fruits bunches production. Effects of severe drought periods will usually result in low crops production after nine (9) months while very wet weather may adversely affect harvesting and evacuation of fresh fruit bunches at the plantations. Weather in Malaysia for the last decade has been affected by open burning within and outside of the country, deforestation due to urban development and agricultural cultivation and weather phenomenon such as El Nino and La Nina.

As the Management Company is unable to predict the weather pattern, the Management Company needs to be meticulous and far-sighted in planning. The wet weather may adversely affect the harvesting and evacuation of fresh fruit bunches as plantations become inaccessible due to poor road conditions while dry weather may result in low yield.

Although there is no way to regulate rainfall pattern, the Management Company will take practical steps to mitigate the effects of excessive rainfall or drought. For example, mulching is done and laid out in the field to act as a sponge that would trap water and keep grounds moist to minimize the effects of drought. Notwithstanding that the Management Company is continuously studying and devising ways to ensure consistent and abundant yield of fresh fruit bunches, there is no guarantee that adverse weather pattern will not have a severe impact on the production of fresh fruit bunches.

8.9 Fire, energy crisis and other emergencies and risks

The breakout of fire, energy crisis and other emergency risks could adversely affect the operations and financial performance of the Plantation. To mitigate the risk of fire, the Management Company places emphasis on proper fire safety procedures being implemented and practiced at the Plantation as well as ensuring that physical assets will have adequate insurance coverage. However, insurance coverage may not be sufficient to cover possible losses of profits due to the Plantation's operations.

8.10 Key personnel

The continued success of the Plantation will depend to a significant extent upon the abilities and continued efforts of the Directors and senior management. The loss of any key member in the management team could affect the Plantation's ability to compete effectively in the oil palm industry. The Plantation's future success will also depend upon the Management Company's ability to attract and retain skilled personnel and as such, the Management Company will make efforts to train staff so as to groom the younger members of the senior management to gradually resume the responsibilities of their predecessors. This is done to ensure a smooth transition in the management team should changes occur and to maintain the Plantation's continued ability to compete in the oil palm industry.

8.11 Seedlings and suppliers

The selection of oil palm seedling are crucial in our planting phase as poor quality seedling will affect the future yield, growth rate, survival rate and sustainability of the trees. The Management Company sources seedling from licensed oil palm nurseries which have procured Oil Palm Nursery Certificate of Competencies from the Malaysian Palm Oil Board.

In order to avoid over-reliance on one supplier and ensure consistent and ready supplies of seedling to the plantations, the Management Company procures seedling from several different companies which include IOI Corporation Berhad, Applied Agricultural Resources Sdn Bhd, Kumpulan Guthrie Berhad, Sime Darby Berhad, FELDA (Federal Land Development Authority) and United Plantations Berhad.

Fertiliser cost is a significant component of the plantation industry. It is estimated that annual fertiliser cost will amount to approximately one-third of the Plantation's revenue expenditure.

8.12 Insurance coverage

The buildings, plant and machineries at the Plantation have been insured against risk such as fire, burglary and other perils.

Although the necessary measures will be taken to ensure that assets are adequately covered by insurance, there can be no assurance that the insurance coverage would be adequate for the replacement cost of all assets at the Plantation, including but not limited to the Plantation or any consequential costs arising there from.

8.13 Significant interruptions to operations

Any significant interruptions to the Plantation's operation as a result of breakdown in machinery, union strikes or natural disaster could materially and adversely affect the Plantation's business, financial condition and results of operation.

8.14 Economic, political and government regulations

Political developments and uncertain economic conditions, if any, in Malaysia and other countries where palm oil products are currently being exported to, could affect the financial prospects of the Plantation. Examples of these political and economic uncertainties include but are not limited to changes in labour laws and availability of foreign labour, interest rates, foreign exchange rates, methods of taxation, tariffs and duties. The occurrence of any unforeseen events, such as the outbreak of war, diseases and natural disaster may disrupt the demand and supply of fresh fruit bunches and crude palm oil thus affecting their prices.

8.15 Environmental laws and risks

The Management Company will ensure that the Plantation conforms to the environmental regulatory requirement and carries out consistent monitoring of its environmental practices to ensure that it conforms and exceeds industry standards. Although no absolute guarantee is given, the Management Company is confident based on current environmental practices that the Plantation will conform to the requirements of the applicable laws.

16. NOTES TO THE STATEMENT OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES (CONT'D)

16.5 Material Accounting Policies Information

(a) Critical accounting estimates and judgements

Key Sources of Estimation Uncertainty

Management believes that there are no key assumptions made concerning the future, and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year other than as disclosed below:-

(i) Depreciation of property, plant and equipment

The estimates for the residual values, useful lives and related depreciation charges for the property, plant and equipment are based on commercial factors which could change significantly as a result of technical innovations and competitors' actions in response to the market conditions. The Company anticipates that the residual values of its property, plant and equipment will be insignificant. As a result, residual values are not being taken into consideration for the computation of the depreciable amount. Changes in the expected level of usage and technological development could impact the economic useful lives and the residual values of these assets, therefore future depreciation charges could be revised. The carrying amount of property, plant and equipment as at the reporting date is disclosed in Note 16.6 to the financial statements.

16. NOTES TO THE STATEMENT OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES (CONT'D)

16.5 Material Accounting Policies Information (Cont'd)

(a) Critical accounting estimates and judgements (Cont'd)

(ii) Impairment of Non-trade Receivables

The loss allowances for non-trade financial assets are based on assumptions about risk of default and expected loss rates. The Company uses judgement in making these assumptions and selecting appropriate inputs to the impairment calculation, based on the past payment trends, existing market conditions as well as forward-looking information. The carrying amount of other receivables as at the reporting date are disclosed in Notes 16.10 to the financial statements.

Critical Judgements Made in Applying Accounting Policies

Management believes that there are no instances of application of critical judgement in applying the Company's accounting policies which will have a significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements other than as disclosed below:-

(i) Lease Terms

Some leases contain extension options exercisable by the Company before the end of the non-cancellable contract period. In determining the lease term, management considers all facts and circumstances including the past practice and any cost that will be incurred to change the asset if an option to extend is not taken. An extension option is only included in the lease term if the lease is reasonably certain to be extended (or not terminated).

16. NOTES TO THE STATEMENT OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES (CONT'D)

16.5 Material Accounting Policies Information (Cont'd)

(a) Critical accounting estimates and judgements (Cont'd)

(ii) Fair value of growers' fees

The Company carries its growers' fees at fair value, with changes in fair values being recognised in profit or loss. In accordance with the terms and conditions of the Growers' Scheme, the Company has net yield payment obligation over 20 years (the duration of the Scheme), based on the net profits upon harvesting.

The fair value of the growers' fees has been determined using the discounted cash flows method of the underlying obligations, based on the significant assumptions as disclosed in Note 16.17 to the financial statements. When the actual results differ from the original projections, the differences may impact the carrying amount of the growers' fees.

(b) Financial instruments (cont'd)

(i) Financial assets

Financial Assets Through Profit or Loss

The financial assets are initially measured at fair value. Subsequent to the initial recognition, the financial assets are measured to their fair values at the reporting date with fair value changes recognised in profit or loss. The fair value changes do not include interest and dividend income.

Financial Assets at Amortised Cost

The financial assets are initially measured at fair value plus transaction costs except for trade receivables without significant financing component which are measured at transaction price only. Subsequent to the initial recognition, all financial assets are measured at amortised cost less any impairment losses.

(ii) Financial liabilities

Financial Liabilities at Amortised Cost

The financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value less transactions costs. Subsequent to the initial recognition, the financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost.

(iii) Equity

Ordinary Shares

Ordinary shares are recorded on initial recognition at the proceeds received less directly attributable transaction costs incurred. The ordinary shares are not remeasured subsequently.

16. NOTES TO THE STATEMENT OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES (CONT'D)

16.5 Material Accounting Policies Information (Cont'd)

(c) Property, plant and equipment

(i) Bearer plants

Bearer plants, included within property, plant and equipment, are defined as living plants that are used in the production or supply of agricultural produce and for which there is only a remote likelihood that the plant will also be sold as agricultural produce. Bearer plants (before maturity), representing immature oil palm, are measured at cost, which consists of the costs incurred in the maintenance of the plantations. No depreciation is provided for immature bearer plants. Upon, maturity, bearer plants are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses, if any. Mature bearer plants are depreciated over the estimated useful lives of the bearer plants of 25 years.

16. NOTES TO THE STATEMENT OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES (CONT'D)

16.5 Material Accounting Policies Information (Cont'd)

(c) Property, plant and equipment (cont'd)

(ii) Other Property, Plant and Equipment

All other items of property, plant and equipment are initially measured at cost. Cost includes expenditure that are directly attributable to the acquisition of the asset and other costs directly attributable to bringing the asset to working condition for its intended use.

Subsequent to initial recognition, all property, plant and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and any impairment losses.

Depreciation of property, plant and equipment is calculated using straight-line method to write off the depreciable amount of assets over their estimated useful lives. The principal annual depreciation rate are:-

Buildings	10%
Drainage, roads and bridges	4%
Nursery irrigation systems	10%
Motor vehicles, plant and machinery	20%
Equipment and furniture	10% - 20%
Renovation	20%

Capital work-in-progress represents assets under construction, and which are not ready for commercial use at the end of the reporting period. Capital work-in-progress is stated at cost, and is transferred to the relevant category of assets and depreciated accordingly when the assets are completed and ready for commercial use.

Cost of capital work-in-progress includes direct cost, related expenditure and interest cost on borrowings taken to finance the acquisition of the assets to the date that the assets are completed and put into use.

16. NOTES TO THE STATEMENT OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES (CONT'D)

16.5 Material Accounting Policies Information (Cont'd)

(d) Biological assets

Biological assets comprise produce growing on bearer plants.

Produce growing on bearer plants (i.e. FFBS) is classified as current assets as it is expected to be harvested and sold or used for production on a date not later than 12 months after the reporting date.

Biological assets are measured at fair value less costs to sell. Any gains or losses arising on initial recognition and from changes in the fair value less costs to sell are recognised in profit or loss for the period in which they arise.

(e) Intangible assets

Computer software is initially capitalised at cost which includes the purchase price (net of any discounts and rebates) and other directly attributable cost of preparing the asset for its intended use. Direct expenditure, which enhances or extends the performance of computer software beyond its specifications and which can be reliably measured, is recognised as capital improvement and added to the original cost of the software. Cost associated with maintaining the computer software are recognised as an expense as incurred.

Capitalised computer software is subsequently carried at cost less accumulated amortisation and impairment losses, if any. These costs are amortised on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of 3 years.

Gains or losses arising from derecognition of computer software are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the assets and are recognised in profit or loss when the assets are derecognised.

(f) Right-of-use assets and lease liabilities

(i) Short-term leases and leases of low-value assets

The Company apply the “short-term lease” and “lease of low-value assets” recognition exemption. For these leases, the Company recognise the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight-line method over the term of the lease unless another systematic basis is more appropriate.

(ii) Right-of-use assets

Right-of-use asset are initially measured at cost. Subsequent to the initial recognition, the right-of-use assets are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and any accumulated impairment losses, and adjusted for any remeasurement of lease liabilities.

The right-of-use assets are depreciated using the straight-line method from the commencement date to the earlier of the end of the estimated useful lives of the right-of-use assets or the end of the lease term. The principal annual periods and rates used as:-

The biological assets of the Company comprise unharvested agricultural produce of bearer plants, ie fresh fruit bunches (“FFB”).

The Company adopted the income approach to measure the fair value of the unharvested FFBs. To arrive at the fair value of the unharvested FFBs, the management considered the oil content of the unripe FFBs and assumed that the net cash flows to be generated from FFBs prior to more than 2 weeks to harvest are negligible. Costs to sell, which include harvesting, transportation cost and windfall profit levy, are deducted from the fair value. The key assumptions used in the determination of the fair value less costs to sell of the unharvested FFBs are as follows:-

- (i) estimated volume of unharvested FFBs as of the reporting date, with reference to the actual harvest data subsequent to the reporting date.
- (ii) estimated prices of unharvested FFBs based on the market prices of FFBs as of the reporting date, adjusted for the oil content of the unripe FFBs.
- (iii) estimated selling costs based on past practices and experience.

The fair value measurement of the Company’s unharvested FFBs is categorised within level 3 of the fair value hierarchy.

The directors estimate that a decrease in the price of FFBs and the production volume of FFBs by 10% would result in the carrying amount of biological assets reducing by RM54,000, with all other variables held constant.

During the financial year, the Company harvested approximately 42,800 tonnes of FFBs from oil palm plantations.

16.17 Growers' Fees

	RM'000

Growers' fees	3,077

Growers' fees represent the amount received from growers under the Growers Scheme established pursuant to the Interest Schemes Act 2016 ("the Scheme"), for which the Company is obligated to pay an annual net profit over the duration of the Scheme.

The fair value of growers' fees is determined using the discounted cash flows method, and is derived from the present value of the future cash flows resulting from the obligations under the Scheme, computed based on the projections of financial budgets prepared by the management. The key assumptions used in the determination of the fair value are as follows:-

- (a) Discount rate (pre-tax) – an estimate of pre-tax rate that reflects specific risks relating to oil palm plantation, which is 10% per annum.
- (b) Growth rate – management's estimate of commodity prices, oil palm yields and oil extraction rates.
- (c) Selling prices of fresh fruit bunches – an estimate based on expectations of future changes in the market.
- (d) Development and direct costs – an estimate based on past practices and experience.

16.24 Financial Instruments

The activities of the Company are exposed to a variety of market risk (including foreign currency risk, interest rate risk and equity price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The overall financial risk management policy focuses on the unpredictability of financial markets and seeks to minimise potential adverse effects on the financial performance of the Company.

(a) Financial risk management policies

The policies in respect of the major areas of treasury activity are as follows:-

(i) Market risk

Foreign currency risk

The Company does not have any transactions or balances denominated in foreign currencies and hence is not exposed to foreign currency risk.

Interest rate risk

The fixed rate debt instruments of the Company are not subject to interest rate risk since neither carrying amounts nor the future cash flows will fluctuate because of a change in market interest rates.

Equity price risk

The Company does not have any quoted investments and hence is not exposed to equity price risk.

(a) Financial risk management policies (cont'd)

(ii) Credit risk

The exposure to credit risk, or the risk of counterparties defaulting, arises mainly from its trade and other receivables. The Company manages its exposure to credit risk by the application of credit approvals, credit limits and monitoring procedures on an ongoing basis. For other financial assets (including cash and bank balances), the Company minimises credit risk by dealing exclusively with high credit rating counterparties.

Credit risk concentration profile

The Company's concentration of credit risk in respect of trade receivables (including related companies) exists due to the Company's limited number of customers. Based on the Company's historical collection of these receivables, management believes that they are fully recoverable.

Maximum exposure to credit risk

At the end of the reporting period, the maximum exposure to credit risk is represented by the carrying amount of each class of financial assets recognised in the statement of financial position of the Company after deducting any allowance for impairment losses (where applicable).

(a) Financial risk management policies (cont'd)

Assessment of Impairment Losses

At each reporting date, the Company evaluate whether any financial assets at amortised cost are credit impaired.

The gross carrying amounts of financial assets are written off when there is no reasonable expectation of recovery despite the fact that they are still subject to enforcement activities.

A financial asset is credit impaired when any of following events that have a detrimental impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset have occurred:-

- Significant financial difficult of the receivable;
- A breach of contract, such as a default or past due event;
- Restructuring of a debt in relation to the receivable's financial difficulty;
- It is becoming probable that the receivable will enter bankruptcy or other financial reorganisation.

The Company considers a receivable to be in default when the receivable is unlikely to repay its debt to the Company in full or is more than 90 days past due.

Assessment of Impairment Losses (cont'd)

Amount Owing by Related Companies (Trade balance)

The Company applies the simplified approach to measuring expected credit losses using a lifetime expected credit loss allowance for related company.

Inputs, Assumptions and Techniques used for Estimating Impairment Losses

To measure expected credit losses on a collective basis, related company are grouped based on shared credit risk characteristics and the days past due.

The Company measures the expected credit losses of all related company that are credit impaired with a high risk of default on an individual basis.

The expected loss rates are based on the Company's historical credit losses experienced, adjusted to reflect current and forward-looking information on macroeconomic factors affecting the ability of the trade receivables to settle their debts.

There are no significant changes in the estimation techniques and assumptions as compared to the previous financial year.

Allowance for Impairment Losses

	Gross Amount RM'000	Lifetime Loss Allowance RM'000	Carrying Amount RM'000
2023
Low credit risk	6,348	-	6,348

The movements in the loss allowances in respect of trade receivables (including amount owing by related companies) are disclosed in Note 16.11 to the financial statements.

(a) Financial risk management policies (cont'd)

(ii) Credit risk (cont'd)

Assessment of Impairment Losses (cont'd)

Other Receivables

The Company applies the 3-stage general approach to measuring expected credit losses for its other receivables and amount owing by related parties.

Under this approach, loss allowance is measured on either 12-month expected credit losses or lifetime expected credit losses, by considering the likelihood that the receivable would not be able to repay during the contractual period (probability of default, PD), the percentage of contractual cash flows that will not be collected if default happens (loss given default, LGD) and the outstanding amount that is exposed to default risk (exposure at default, EAD).

In deriving the PD and LGD, the Company considers the receivable's past payment status and its financial condition as at the reporting date. The PD is adjusted to reflect current and forward-looking information on macroeconomic factors affecting the ability of the receivable to settle its debts.

Allowance for Impairment Losses

No expected credit loss is recognised on other receivables as it is negligible.

Cash and Bank Balances

The Company considers the licensed banks have low credit risks. In addition, some of the bank balances are insured by Government agencies. Therefore, the Company is of the view that the loss allowance is immaterial and hence, it is not provided for.

Assessment of Impairment Losses (cont'd)

Amount Owing by Related Companies (Non-trade balances)

The Company applies the 3-stage general approach to measuring expected credit losses for all inter-company balances.

Inputs, Assumptions and Techniques used for Estimating Impairment Losses

The Company considers loans and advances to related companies have low credit risks. The Company assumes that there is a significant increase in credit risk when related companies' financial position deteriorates significantly.

For loans and advances that are repayable on demand, impairment loss is assessed based on the assumption that repayment of the outstanding balances is demanded at the reporting date. If the related companies do not have sufficient highly liquid resources when the loans and advances are demanded, the Company will consider the expected manner of recovery to measure the impairment loss; the recovery manner could be either through 'repayable over time' or a fire sale of less liquid assets by the related companies.

Allowance for Impairment Losses

At the end of the reporting period, there was no indication that the amount owing is not recoverable.

(iii) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk arises mainly from general funding and business activities. The Company practises prudent risk management by maintaining sufficient cash balances and the availability of funding through certain committed credit facilities

(b) Capital risk management

The Company defines capital as the total equity and debt of the Company. The objective of the Company's capital management is to maintain an optimal capital structure and ensuring availability of funds in order to support its businesses and related shareholder(s) value. To achieve this objective, the Company may make adjustments to the capital structure in view of changes in economic conditions, such as adjusting the amount of dividend payment, returning of capital to shareholders or issuing new shares.

The Company manages its capital based on debt-to-equity ratio. As the Company has a negative equity base, the debt-to-equity ratio may not provide a meaningful indicator of the risk of borrowings.

- (ii) The fair value of growers' fees is determined using discounted cash flow projections based on a pre-tax rate that reflects specific risks relating to oil palm plantation.
- (iii) The fair value of hire purchase obligations that carry fixed interest rates is determined by discounting the relevant future contractual cash flows using current market interest rates for similar instruments at the end of the reporting period.

Dear Sirs,

We are pleased to submit the Independent Consultant's Report for the inclusion of the Prospectus dated 1 November 2024 issued pursuant to Section 28 of the Interest Schemes Act 2016 in connection with the offer for sale of up to 41,772 Grower's Plots under the GOLDEN AGRO GROWERS SCHEME established pursuant to the Interest Schemes Act 2016 by Golden Agro Plantation (Mukah) Berhad ("the Management Company").

Agronomic Visit Report: No. 15/2024

Date of Visit: 16 & 17 August 2024

1. INTRODUCTION

This visit was made on 16 & 17 August 2024. The objectives of this visit are as follows:

- a. To assess the field condition and health status of palms.
- b. To identify the yield limiting factors, both nutrient-related and non-nutrient-related.
- c. To propose the appropriate mitigating measures.

2. AREA STATEMENT

There was no change in hectarage since our previous visit in 23-25 January 2024. The area statement as of August 2024 is appended below.

FIELD	AREA (HA)
Mature
M10	1,372.09
M11	1,003.06
Immature
M10	-
M11	-
Total Planted Area	2,375.15

3. HUMAN RESOURCES

There was no change in both the executive and non-executive staffs since our last visit. All staffs were able to carry out their duties with proper guidance from the Senior Manager. However, there is still room for further improvement especially the harvesting mandores.

The current workforce was sufficient to cope with all major field operations, namely harvesting, weeding and manuring.

We wish to put on record that the Management has put in tremendous effort to retain sufficient workforce and ensuring high daily out turn in both the estates. Such effort has contributed significantly in ensuring at least two harvesting rounds per month, as well as maintaining a generally satisfactory field condition.

4. RAINFALL

The annual rainfall for 2022 and 2023 (January to December; 12 months), as well as 2024 (January-July; 7 months) is appended below:

Total	Jan-Dec (12 months)				Jan-Jul (7 months)
	2022		2023		2024
	mm	days	mm	days	mm	days
M10	3,420	210	3,396	210	2,741	112
M11	3,503	201	4,161	196	2,645	116

The extreme wet weather since the Oct-23 has persisted till Jul-24. Over these past 10 months, there were six and five months of excess rainfall in M10 and M11, respectively. The negative impacts are multi-fold, as follows:

- a. Excessive rain (synonymous to thick cloud) reduces the effective sunshine hour; hence the consequential lower photosynthetic activity of palms. Leant palms, being partially shaded by erect-standing ones, are the worst affected.
- b. It reduces the pollinating efficiency. This explained the anomalies of parthenocarpic fruit bunches and lower bunch weight.
- c. It reduces the road quality, stifles field operations such as harvesting and manuring.
- d. Water inundation has impeded soil aeration, which is crucial for root respiration and root-nutrient exchange (Figures 1).

Combined, excessive rain is one of the key yield limiting factors in both the estates.

Figure 1.

A decrease in the discharge rate of Sg. Baoh to the adjacent natural waterway had given rise to backflow of brackish water into Blocks; thereby impeding the harvesting operation.

5. PALM APPEARANCE

Except for some one-third of the flood-affected areas in M11, palm canopy was generally vigorous. This could be told from the sound frond production rate. Moreover, each successive emerging new frond was longer than the older ones (Figures 2 and 3).

True to the foliar analysis conducted in Apr-24, K was moderately deficient, especially in M10. The causal factors were obviously, namely delays in the application of K fertiliser and high leaching loss of K as would cause by exceedingly high rainfall.

As a compromise, do widely and loosely stack all pruned fronds. With improved stacking standard, all fertilizers (except boron, zinc and copper) are to be broadcasted over frond stacks. This reduces the risks of surface run-off and leaching losses of nutrients.

In response to the recently applied Mg fertiliser, leaf Mg has improved significantly as compared to our last visit.

The anomaly of palm leaning has worsened further since our last visit in Jan-24. Back then, the degree of leaning was rated at score-2 (score scale of 1-10; score-1 denotes erect-standing vs. score-10 for total collapse of palm); as opposed to score-3 during this visit.

For the Management, kindly manage the water table more tactfully. If resources permit, it is best to perform soil mounding. Soil mounding, up to the height of 2-3 frond butts from ground surface, induces formation of new primary roots. The secondary, tertiary and quaternary roots would then proliferate from these primaries; hence its resultant higher root density for better root anchorage. This is best timed to coincide with desilting of drains.

Figures 2 & 3.

These 11-year-old palms in M10 (top) and 10-year-old palms in M11 (bottom) were growing vigorously with satisfactory canopy colour.

6. FERTILIZER APPLICATION

Ideally, manuring should avoid months which are likely to have high rainfall of more than 250mm, or with high rain days of more than 15 days per month. To say the truth, confronted by the changing rainfall pattern, recurrence flood and non-availability of fertilisers in the market, this is not always possible.

In the event of wash-out after fertiliser application, do alert the Visiting Agronomist. Some specific corrective measures may be necessary for the affected areas.

Walking through the fields, we could confirm that all palms have received their quota of fertiliser, suggesting of close supervision at time of fertiliser application.

Between Aug-24 and Dec-24, both estates do have two more rounds of fertilisers; one each for P and K. In other words, after discounting the historical wet month of December, both estates must complete these two rounds over a period of four months.

As a matter of routine, all fertilizers received had been sent to reputable laboratories as part of the quality control measures.

7. MANAGEMENT OF WEEDS

Palm circle and harvesting path were generally well maintained. These greatly facilitate manuring and loose fruit collection.

Having said that, due to accidental elimination of soft grasses such as Nephrolepis biserrata, Fimbristylis acuminata and Paspalum conjugatum, some fields were slightly bare (Figure 4).

In short, herbicide spraying should be more target-oriented so that the abovementioned soft grasses are spared for the purpose of soil and moisture conservation. It is sufficient to maintain clean weeded circles for the purpose of loose fruit collection and manuring. It is not necessary to over spray the harvesting paths.

One of the over-sprayed blocks in M10, rendering the harvesting path to become near barren.

8. MANAGEMENT OF PESTS AND DISEASES

There was no serious occurrence of pests or diseases at time of our visit. Despite of the negligible rat attacks, rat baiting campaign is still recommended at six-monthly intervals. Our primary objective is to avoid a sudden build up of rat population in the field. Besides, it reduces the risk of rats from feeding on both male and female inflorescences which may adversely affect fruit set and bunch production.

It is also advised that baiting campaign to be carried out at 100% (one bait for one palm) with all missing baits be replaced at three to four days intervals until the acceptance rate falls below 20%. If the rat population is low, the acceptance rate will quickly fall below 20% with three to four rounds of baiting.

As abnormal weather condition has become a new norm, and that the estates may suffer from unexpected dry season as time goes by, do cultivate beneficial plants, namely Antigonon leptopus, Turnera subulata and Cassia cobanensis as a mean to counter the probable outbreaks of leaf eating pests such as bagworms and nettle caterpillars.

While the surrounding estates have been infected by Ganoderma basal stem rot, there was no such incidence in both M10 and M11 as yet.

9. CROP AND HARVESTING

This visit happened to coincide with the onset of peak cropping season. Having gone through a 4-month-long trough, some 50% and 75% of palms in M10 and M11 were carrying more than eight developing black bunches at time of our visit (Figure 5).

As such, although the yield harvested as of Jul-24 was $\pm 26.7\%$ and $\pm 2.3\%$ lower than the corresponding period of 2023 in M10 and M11 respectively, given the satisfactory bunch set, it is projected that the yield will improve gradually towards the final quarter of 2024.

Nonetheless, the yield performance is still largely dictated by the weather condition, especially for the flood-prone M11.

While the bunch set was satisfactory, it was plagued by poor fruit set. This said poor fruit set was manifested in the forms of long spikes and abortive fruitlets – to such an extent that it has reduced the bunch weight. In fact, poor fruit set is one of the key yield limiting factors.

The current anomalies of poor fruit set is state-wide, and believed to be haunting Sarawak since 2023. For both M10 and M11, the causal factors are as follows:

- a. Pollen wash-off, which increases significantly if anthesis coincided with high day-time rain.
- b. Weevils are inactive during high day-time rain.

The Management is advised to identify, and severely prune (leaving behind 17 functional fronds) abnormal palms where pollination is poor. Such palms would produce male inflorescences, so-named pollen bank. The suggested intensity is one pollen bank for every five hectares. Do prune the second pollen-bank-designate palm some 2-4 weeks later.

Figure 5.

Palms in both the estates were carrying satisfactory number of bunches – signaling possible higher yield between Oct-Dec 2024.

10. ROADS

Despite of the continual high rainfall, all roads have been properly maintained, graveled and rolled. Additionally, M11 was in the process of raising up the foundation of its main access road with transported mineral soil (Figures 6 and 7).

Figure 6.

All-weather roads have provided both the estates with unimpeded access for field supervision, harvesting, FFB evacuation and fertiliser application.

Figure 7.

Topping up of the main access road to M11 was in progress at time of our visit.
